Bridging the Intergenerational Communication Gap	Good communication is the foundation to any team, department, or organization. With it, people absorb and comprehend messages from management, value differences, and there is stronger cohesion throughout the team. Without it, there is a lack of trust, misunderstandings occur, and a climate of low morale exists. Getting everyone on the same page isn't always easy, particularly within intergenerational work environments and the varied ways people communicate. Join this interactive webinar to better understand strategies that can lead to real improvements in employee communication, motivation, and productivity. How Are Students Really Managing Finances? Results from a Multiyear Behavioral Assessment	What is the current state of financial wellness among college students? Do they really budget? Do they think about retirement? And do their perceptions of self-reported financial capability align with their financial actions? Join us for Inceptia's first multi-year research project, in which we worked with over 60,000 students from across the country to gain insight into their personal finance successes and challenges. From credit, to student loans, to alternative banking, the assessment was designed to gauge a full range of financial capability markers. The results can help all financial education advocates keep their finger on the pulse of what students know, what they think they know, and areas in which we can help bridge the gap. Yes, you are living beyond your means	Living beyond your means is pretty easy to do these days, especially since we live in a time when buying on credit—and having a YOLO mentality—has become the norm. But just because it seems normal, doesn't mean we aren't doing a real disservice to our current and future well-being. In this webinar, we will examine red flags that you're living a lifestyle you simply can't afford—and how to get back on track ASAP.	ECMC	10/12/18	10:00 AM	https://www.ecmc.org/schools/training.html

College Cost Meter™: Introducing a Student Debt Letter When It's Not Mandated	You wouldn't apply for auto loan without first knowing whether or not you can afford to repay it--yet many students borrow for college without doing the same. Great Lakes has an easy-to-use and affordable solution to help you educate your students. College Cost Meter™ is a versatile tool that produces the correspondence you need to inform students of their existing indebtedness and potential future payments. When students receive indebtedness insight they have been known to borrow more conservatively, adjust their major, improve class selection, and graduate more quickly. Join us to learn more about this easy to use and cost effective tool. Good is Good, but Why Be Average? Taking Your Customer Service to the Next Level	Good customer service has become the expectation in the higher education environments. It's the minimum of what students want from their school. So if good is good, how do you take your customer service to the next level? Most of your students and families want more than a friendly face. They expect to have their needs met through a wide variety of ways—and those needs extend beyond the classroom and into all areas of the institution. Your customer service should resonate a culture of excellence in order to recruit and retain your students. You can take it to another level by assessing your current service, identifying competencies, and creating specific goals for improvement. Join this participatory session to learn how. Using Behavior-based Interviewing to Hire the Right Staff	The success of any company, organization or department is tied to having the right people in the right positions. To ensure you fit the pieces of the puzzle together, incorporating behavior-based questions during an interview can help you better understand how a potential candidate would react in a given situation. There is a theory that the most accurate predictor of future performance is how someone behaved during a similar situation in the past. Your strategy should include identifying the required skillset for the position, great questions, and evaluation criteria. Join us as we help you predict behaviors of a job candidate by learning how to ask behavior-based questions and evaluate the answers.
